WHAT WE MAKE FOR DEFENCE

- Field and combat clothing and layering systems
- Chemical-protection and CBRN-type suits
- Fire-protective garments and station wear
- Covers, load-carriage and technical sewn kit
- Disposable and non-woven protective clothing

EVERY PROCESS IN-HOUSE

Few European factories hold all of this machinery under one roof. We do:

- All forms of sewing, plus embroidery
- High-frequency and ultrasonic welding
- Taped and welded liquid-barrier seams
- Computerised cutting, patterns and grading
- Design and tech-pack development in-house
- EN ISO, Def Stan and customer specifications
- Full batch traceability through SAP ERP

CREDENTIALS, HELD AND IN PROGRESS

- ISO 9001:2015, certified by SGS since 2017 (SK17/2706)
- ISO 14001:2015, certified by SGS since 2023 (SK23/00000132)
- In progress for defence supply: JOSCAR, Cyber Essentials, AQAP 2110 and an NCAGE code. Ask us where each stands.

ANY VOLUME, FLEXED FAST

From one-off prototypes and samples to 30,000+ garments a week. Modular lines and seven trusted partner factories scale up or down without retooling, so framework and call-off contracts get the same quick response as a development run.

PROVENANCE & RESILIENCE

Allied, transparent supply: offices in the UK, manufacturing inside the EU and NATO, no EU import duties. Our Slovak facility, satellite capacity in Macedonia and partner factories give second-source and surge capability. Where a contract requires UK content, we are open to UK-finishing and partnership arrangements.

WHY NOW

European defence spending rose 14% in 2025 to $864bn (SIPRI), and the EU plans up to €800bn more under Readiness 2030, with policy favouring EU-based suppliers. We already manufacture inside that supply chain.

“

Their attention to detail, craftsmanship and modular capacity to scale have ensured a seamless production process. They deliver on time, every time, without compromising on quality.
